G1, G8, G9 Mining Supervisor

Overview:

Upon successful completion of this online training program, participants will have acquired the skills and knowledge to enable them to undertake the role of a Mine Safety and Health Representative or Mine Supervisor and perform the duties and position requirements of these roles. These units are appropriate for those working in operational roles at worksites within the civil construction, coal mining, drilling, extractive, and metalliferous mining industries.

This course also includes the G2 (RIIRIS402E) Carry out the Risk Management Process unit, which covers the skills and knowledge required to carry out risk management processes in the Resources and Infrastructure Industries. This course is often a requirement for mine workers who are wishing to progress their career into a position of leading hand, supervisor, superintendent, deputy, or those who are elected as a Site Safety and Health Representative.

Pre-requisites:

The RIICOM301E unit will require video assessment submissions (students are to conduct a pre-start meeting & toolbox talks). Participants must be able to record themselves using a method where they can be seen and heard clearly. You will require one volunteer to act as an 'audience member' for these meetings. These meetings can be conducted either face-to-face or you can use communications software such as Microsoft Teams or Zoom.

Participants must have access to a reliable computer with email and internet access and Microsoft Word.

Licence & Regulatory Requirements:

It is an industry requirement that participants who obtain these competencies complete recertification training every 5 years.

Units of Competency:

On successful completion participants will be issued with a Statement of Attainment with the following units:

- RIIRIS301E Apply risk management processes (G1)
